

MEXICAN SITUATION IS SERIOUS

STATE DEPARTMENT DISCLOSES FACT THAT UNLESS MURDERS AND OUTRAGES COMMITTED ALONG THE BORDER CEASE A RADICAL CHANGE IN POLICY WITH MEXICO WILL BE ADOPTED—GOVERNMENTS EXCHANGE NOTES.

CARRANZA'S REPLY IS HOT

Washington, August 15.—The first definite move toward the long expected change in policy in dealing with Mexico was disclosed today.

Carranza has been warned that if the murders and outrages of Americans continue the United States "may be forced to adopt a radical change in its policy with regard to Mexico."

With the announcement at the state department, however, came no authoritative indication of how far the American government is preparing to go to enforce what lacks only the diplomatic technicalities of an ultimatum.

The government announced its action by publishing an exchange of notes with the City of Mexico and prefaced its official statement with the explanation that the diplomatic representations referred to had been taken "in view of the long series of murders and outrages of American citizens in Mexico culminating in the murder of Peter Catron in San Luis Potosi last month and the perpetration of other acts in disregard of American lives and property."

Note to Carranza.

The following note, the state department announced, was presented to the Mexican government by Charge Summerlin of the American embassy: "Mexico City, July 22, 1919.

"Sir: With reference to the embassy's note, dated July 16, 1919, relative to the murder of Peter Catron, near Valles, San Luis Potosi on or about July 7, last, I have the honor to inform you that I am now under telegraphic instructions from my government to urge upon the Mexican government the capture and punishment of those responsible for this murder and the adoption of adequate measures to prevent a recurrence of the murder of American citizens.

"I am also instructed to state that should the lives of American citizens continue to remain unsafe and these murders continue by reason of the unwillingness or inability of the Mexican government to afford adequate protection, my government may be forced to adopt a radical change in its policy with regard to Mexico.

"Accept, sir, the renewed assurances of my highest consideration.

"GEORGE T. SUMMERLIN,
"Charge d'Affaires."

To this communication the Mexican government returned the following reply, dated July 28, signed by Salvador Diego-Fernandez, in charge of the department of foreign relations: "Mr. Charge d'Affaires: The note which your honor was pleased to send me on the twenty-second instant, advised me of the instruction which you had received to notify this department that if the lives of the citizens of the United States in Mexico continued in a state of insecurity and if murders should continue because of the unwillingness or inability of the Mexican government to give adequate protection, the government of the United States would be compelled to adopt a radical change in its policy with regard to Mexico.

"In reply, I have the honor to state that the fact that offenses against the lives of citizens of the United States have occurred in the territory of the republic can not be notoriously attributed to unwillingness to give protection. The willingness to furnish this protection has been expressed repeatedly and the material difficulties in the way of fulfilling a promise, supposing that it is not fulfilled, should not be confused with unwillingness to do so, especially as this willingness had been demonstrated by acts.

"Moreover, if we consider the protection of human life in absolute terms, that is to say in every case and wherever a citizen of the United States may be within Mexican territory he should enjoy special and effective protection to a degree such that his life may never be placed in danger, it is not possible for the government of Mexico to do this because so perfect a condition of security exists nowhere; with all the more reason is this true, considering the great territorial extent of the republic, its scanty population and the difficult conditions which prevail after a long civil war.

"The government of Mexico has always endeavored, as far as possible, to give full security to the lives of foreigners, as well as of its nationals but the act that foreigners, through ignorance, the lack of prudence or rash eagerness for profit, venture to remain or to travel in dangerous regions, thereby incurring the risk of becoming the victims of offenses and even trusting to escape offenses because of their being foreigners."

Putnam County Food Administrator T. E. Evans and Putnam County Prosecutor Fay Hamilton are doing all in their power to find out if any profiteering is done by Putnam county merchants and will severely punish them if any such are found. COLLEGE TO OPEN WITH CLASSES ON SEPTEMBER 17—SEVERAL CHANGES HAVE BEEN MADE IN THE FACULTY MEMBERS FOR COMING SCHOOL YEAR.

ENROLLMENT PROBABLY 1,000

Saturday, September 13, will be the first day of registration for DePauw University. Classes will begin on Wednesday, September 17. Announcement was made this morning by college officials that there would probably be an enrollment of 1,000 students. This is about the normal enrollment of the past few years. Several changes in the faculty members have been made. The loss of Prof. William Marion Hudson, head of the department of economics, who resigned several days ago, will be especially felt by the college folk. His work in DePauw was highly merited and the many friends with whom he has become acquainted will greatly miss him. Prof. Hudson leaves DePauw to enter the life insurance field with the State Life Insurance Company of Indianapolis.

Dr. Walter E. Bundy, who comes to DePauw this year as assistant professor on English Bible has had quite a remarkable experience during the war period. Dr. Bundy, who is a graduate of DePauw University in the class of 1912, and later a graduate of Boston University, has been stationed at Vienna, Austria, working in connection with the peace conference. Before going to Vienna he was vice consul at Basel, Switzerland. This post was most important, as his duties lay near the German-Swiss border. While in Switzerland Dr. Bundy married a native of Switzerland. Dr. and Mrs. Bundy are now living at the home of Col. Weaver on South College avenue. Two men who have been elected to this year's faculty as instructors in English writing are Eric A. Eckler and R. Ray Steele. Mr. Steele is a graduate of Adrian College, Adrian, Mich., and has lately been instructor in the Ohio State School, Columbus, O., and Ohio University at Athens, O. Mr. Eckler holds an A. B. degree from Washington, D. C., and Jefferson College, Washington, Pa., and comes to DePauw having taught in the University School of Cleveland, O.

degree under Prof. E. Ross of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., doctor of philosophy at Clark University, Worcester, Mass., comes to DePauw to become acting head of the department of sociology. Truman G. Yunker, a graduate of the University of Illinois, comes to DePauw to be assistant professor in biology.

STRIKE OF RAIL SHOPMEN ENDS BY AGREEMENT

Chicago, August 15.—The railway shopmen's strike is off and the men will return to work Saturday. This was the decision last night of representatives of the strikers from widely scattered points throughout the country after an all-day meeting.

No official announcement was made, but the result was learned from men familiar with the proceedings. While the shopmen's representatives were in session, a mass meeting of car repairers, representing about 27,000 strikers, also decided to return to work.

The shopmen's meeting was called by the Chicago District Council, which called the strike August 1 in defiance of the international officers of the shop crafts, who were in session in Washington negotiating with Director General Hines of the railroad administration.

Decision Was Foreseen.

The decision had been expected since the council decided several days ago to call the meeting. An attempt to obtain recognition from Director Hines for the Chicago leaders of the strike had failed. President Wilson said that before the railroad administration would take up demands the men must return to work.

The telegram to President Wilson last night was said to have been a notification that the men would return to work. A resolution adopted asked that the President invite a committee of three from the district council to go to Washington and sit in the negro to Washington and sit in the negro.

The Rev. George M. Farrar and son of Oklahoma, are in Greencastle visiting friends. The Rev. Farrar was a prominent orator in DePauw and during his graduation year, 1899, he was entered in the state oratorical contest. He has been editor of the Greenfield Daily Herald and was for a while a lawyer in the West.

PACKERS TO ISSUE WARNING

INSTITUTE OF AMERICAN MEAT PACKERS TO GIVE OUT STATEMENT TO THE LIVE STOCK PRODUCERS OF AMERICA IN REPLY TO RECENT STATEMENT OF SENATOR KENDRICK.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

Chicago, August 15.—Every man who feeds or raises live stock, no matter how few head, will be interested in a statement which the Institute of American Meat Packers of Chicago will address specifically to the live stock producers of America.

The Institute is a national organization, including the five large packers at Chicago as well as almost two hundred smaller concerns.

This explanation will be issued in reply to United States Senator Kendrick's statement giving his reasons why his bill should be passed. It is now in preparation and will say in part to the producers:

"You should realize that the propaganda which has been going on against the packers injures the live stock industry. It not only has caused Americans to eat less meat, but even has affected England's desire to buy meat from us, thereby curtailing our export market and lessening the demand for the products from your animals.

"The Senator's principal reason for favoring legislation is that since the packers have become large and national in scope they must be controlled by the government. If this principle is established for the packing industry there is no reason why it should not be extended to other industries. It would be a step toward Socialism.

"If our credit were injured as in the case of the railroads, we could not borrow money to keep our plants going and to pay you cash for your animals.

"The most dangerous feature of Senator Kendrick's bill is that packers who engage in interstate commerce can do so only by taking out a license. The secretary of agriculture has the power to grant, suspend or revoke such licenses practically at his own whim. This would mean a paternalistic control of business by inexperienced and theoretical subordinates in Washington.

"All this could mean nothing but lower efficiency and higher cost, which would result in a lower price for live stock as compared with the price we could get for meat.

"Remember also that this proposed legislation is based largely on the report of the federal trade commission. Although the trade commission hates to make this admission, it must have discovered two vital things—first, that the packing industry is conducted with the highest degree of efficiency; and second, that it operates at only a fraction of a cent profit per pound, so that if the packers' profits were entirely eliminated it would not noticeably affect the price of live stock or of meats. It is the volume of business which enables the large packers to operate on such a small margin of profit."

INTEREST IN PICNIC IS GROWING

GREAT HOME-COMING EVENT REMAINS FRESH IN THE MINDS OF GREENCASTLE AND PUTNAM COUNTY FOLKS—AWAIT DAY WITH MUCH INTEREST AND ENTHUSIASM.

NEW ATTRACTIONS ADDED

If everyone who has stated they will attend the Farmers' Association-Greencastle Commercial Club's picnic which will be held at Hazelett grove one-half mile east of this city on August 20, the grounds will be too small to hold the crowd. The people are taking great interest in the affair and are asking the officials what they might do to help make the day a success. The merry-go-round used at Quincy Thursday was taken to the grounds today and will remain there until the big Greencastle day. A contest in which many colored boys of the city have signified their intention of entering is the watermelon eating contest. This promises to be a good one. Several colored boys were found in an alley eating watermelons at a dozen-a-minute rate Thursday, and would have still been eating them until the time this paper went to press had not the watermelons run out. When asked the reason for consuming nearly an entire car load they said they were practicing for the watermelon eating contest to be held August 20. Then another contest which will afford great interest is the baby contest. The picnic officials have urged everyone to bring a baby. If it happens that you don't have a little tot, get one from your neighbor and come.

Other features of the day will be an address by Mr. G. I. Christie, assistant secretary of agriculture; two airplanes which will do stunts and take people air-gliding, and numerous shows.

Arrangements are being made by the interurban company to run specials during the day to the Hazelett grove east of Greencastle.

"IT DID ME A WORLD OF GOOD," SHE SAYS

Mrs. Elmore Uses Forceful Words to Describe Help Gained in Trutona.

Vincennes, Ind., August 14.—"Trutona has done me a world of good, in that it has helped me to rid myself of a great deal of worry and unpleasantness," Mrs. Emily B. Elmore, a well known Vincennes woman of 810 Emerson avenue, said recently.

"For about a year I've been bothered with a combination of stomach, liver and kidney troubles. I'd experience severe pains in my stomach, especially after eating pork or anything greasy. At times I felt so badly I didn't have any appetite at all. I frequently suffered severe pains in my back and sides. Dizzy spells and belching annoyed me, too. I felt tired and draggy most of the time.

"I feel more like myself since taking Trutona. My appetite has improved wonderfully and I can eat most anything now without fear of the former bad after effects. I really enjoy my meals nowadays. The pains in my side and back have been relieved. The dizzy spells have almost ceased to occur, too. Trutona is without a doubt a good medicine and I'm glad to endorse it."

Trutona is now being introduced and explained in Greencastle by R. P. Mullins, druggist.—Adv.

It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. COAST OVER COBBLE STONES

Sport in Madeira Has Many Advantages Over That to Which North-Americans Are Accustomed.

Cobble stones may not appeal to the uninitiated as ideal for coasting purposes, but they admirably serve the purpose. It all depends on how steep is the hill the cobbles pave. In other words, it isn't the material that makes the "slide," but the pitch of the slope. Those of us who are accustomed to sliding down snow-clad hills, or tiny ascents made slippery by ice know little of the thrill a slide may possess. For some measure of the delight in the sport is frequently minimized by the frigid air that rushes past our tingling ears and some measure of the enjoyment is entirely lost by the chills that grip our shivering bodies.

Imagine—if you can—the thrill of coasting down a hill so steep that your "sled" flies over the cobbles much as a would speed over crushed snow or an ice glare. Instead of icy air that almost chills you to the marrow at the thought, picture yourself in springtime garments and fanned by summer breezes.

If you can imagine such a picture you will have enjoyed at least some part of the sport of coasting in an island where there is no snow or ice. Down the cobble-paved road the "sled" flies. For ten minutes you dash along in breath-taking rush, then you begin to grow accustomed to the speed and the novelty of the sport and you take time to look about you. But—like most other enjoyments—just as you're beginning really to enjoy it to the utmost your coasting ends.

Where is this extraordinary slide? On the island of Madeira, which belongs to Portugal, and lies in the Atlantic ocean, off the coast of Morocco.

How a Hero Died.

A dramatic incident in which a heroic young officer faced death in soldierly manner is the climax of a true story that recently appeared in Stars and Stripes, the official newspaper of the American expeditionary forces.

He was Francis M. Leahy of Lawrence, Massachusetts, and he had served in the ranks before he won his commission. He used to tell of the days when he was orderly to Captain Pershing in the Philippines. One day while he was resting with his men by the wayside a German shell came whizzing out of space just as the order arrived that the regiment fall in and move on.

The shell plowed up the earth and stretched on the ground several men who were just getting to their feet. It hit the tree against which Captain Leahy was leaning and snapped it off like a stalk of asparagus. A piece of shell struck him in the back and tore its way through his chest.

"Good-by, boys!" he said, and his head sagged forward.

Then it was as if, somewhere in the universe, an invisible commander had called, "Attention!" Captain Leahy raised his head. With clearing voice he called the name of the officer next in command.

"Lieutenant Hansen," he said, "the command is 'Forward!' See the boys through!"

Then he died.

Recipient of Old Honor.

Prince Ferdinand Radziwill, who recently presided at the opening of the new Polish parliament, is a distant relative of the Hohenzollerns and one of the pillars of the old Polish nobility. The honor accorded Prince Radziwill was declared to be absolutely without political significance, but entirely a matter of custom. The prince came into the temporary presidency by reason of seniority only. He is eighty-five years old and is the oldest member on the floor of parliament. By virtue of a similar custom the youngest two members of the house, a socialist and a Catholic priest, neither of them more than twenty-five years old, acted as vice presidents and sat to left and right of the old nobleman all through the first session, assisting him in the carrying on of his duties.

Ships and Their Names.

Peace has brought with it the incidental discussion in a section of the English press of the meaning of and reason for the names of certain ships in the British navy. Truly my lords of the admiralty, acting as sponsors, have gone to some strange sources for the nomenclature. Not merely countries and cities have been drawn upon, but many of the creatures figuring in a menagerie have been freely utilized. Then there are the vessels named after the public schools and institutions of England, such as Uppingham, Tonbridge, Westminster, Rugby, Cheltenham, Epsom and so on. If Eton should feel jealous over the matter of its neglect it can take a kind of reflected comfort in the fact that there is a destroyer called Windsor.

Weights a Locomotive Hauls.

"How much more weight does the average passenger locomotive have to haul than in the days before the advent of the steel car?" I asked an expert Philadelphia locomotive builder. "The old wooden passenger car weighed 40,000 to 50,000 pounds," he answered. "The steel suburban car weighs 90,000 pounds. The larger steel car weighs 110,000 pounds. A parlor car weighs 115,000 pounds and the sleeping car 140,000."

"As for the locomotive itself, the heavy Pacific type for passenger traffic weighs 280,000 to 300,000 pounds. The freight locomotives, of course, go far beyond this figure, to more than 500,000 pounds."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Most Famous Chinese Dish.

What has been considered by Oriental epicures as the daintiest dish in China, the birds' nest, is the product of the sea swallow, which constructs its nest of a gelatinous substance taken from sea moss. The Chinese method of preparing the nests for the table is to soak them and boil them in milk until they are very tender. Then they are placed in clear soup and are ready for use. On his trip to China, General Grant was much feted, and one of the dishes set before him was the birds' nest.

Keeping Even Temper.

Weariness, tired nerves, poor digestion, sudden demands, an overdose of perspiration and a dozen other things will unbalance the temper. You can't always regulate yourself, but you can do a great deal toward keeping the body in trim. You can see to it that the poor old back does not get a load too heavy to be borne. You can also try to guard against surprises that unbalance the mental mechanism and send the mercury skipping skyward. It's the best way to keep an even temper.

Deadly Enemy of Mosquito.

The so-called "water dog" of the Pacific coast of the United States is a new fish to eight inches long. Though quite immune to natural enemies itself, it destroys all mosquitoes within its range, and in the experiments of Prof. A. C. Chandler, of the Oregon Agricultural college, a single individual may devour 200 mosquito larvae in 4 hours, besides killing as many more. This harmless creature may be placed in pools and streams where no fishes could exist.

Wheat in History.

The Romans introduced wheat into Great Britain. They did not have to carry it far, because before they invaded Britain they had conquered Gaul, the France of modern times, and the Gauls were growing large crops of wheat when the Romans crossed to the western islands. The Britons began to grow wheat, and the Saxons continued the work. Still, through the Middle Ages the bread of the poorer classes was made of flour from the coarser grains.

To Be of Influence.

If you can't swing things your way in life the sensible thing is to swing with things the way they are going. To be sure you can just abruptly cut away, but that leaves you out of touch with things. It may be a relief to your conscience to be beyond the reach of compromise. But you are also beyond the reach of influence. You can not hope to be able to mold character or even contribute anything toward bending it.

Use Life's Powers Properly.

There is no wealth but life; life, including all its powers of love, of joy and of admiration. That country is the richest which nourishes the greatest number of noble and happy human beings; that man is the richest who, having perfected the functions of his own life to the utmost, has also the widest helpful influence, both personal and by means of his possessions, over the lives of others.—Ruskin.

Opposed Brothers' Church.

There were three of the Wesleys, although only two of them had anything to do with founding the Methodist church. Sons of an English clergyman, and well educated, they were all pious men, but the older brother, Samuel, took no stock in "Methodism." In fact, he combated it, and wrote of it upon one occasion as "a spreading delusion."

Life Not All Chance.

Events are shapeless except as personality shapes them. Birth and death and changing fortunes are common to humanity, but what different individuals make of them is a forever varying story. We cannot know what experiences await us, but may know tolerably well by what we are making of ourselves, how we shall pass through them.

Saved in Nick of Time.

Many wonderful bargains are recorded in connection with old books. The priceless Coverdale Bible in the British Museum library, for instance, was bought by an amateur book collector from a butcher who was delighted and astonished on being offered ten shillings for it. He was about to use its valuable leaves to wrap up his meat.

"Inventor" of Pork and Beans.

An eccentric Englishman, Daniel Day Good, is accredited with the invention of pork and beans. The first Friday in each July he would assemble a party of friends under an oak in the forest and feast them on bacon and beans. From this festival grew the popularity of the dish.

Concerning Names.

Said the observing cuss, "When an actress starts out to make a name for herself she has to think up a good one to start with before she makes it."

English Surgeon in Civil War.

Sir Charles Wyndham, the famous English actor, served as a surgeon in the American Civil war.

Optimistic Thought.

Many a one threatens while he quakes with fear.

Really Not Their Fault.

Marjorie and Clea are prim little sisters, and as there is a baby brother mamma has some trouble putting on the last touches and getting them away to school mornings. In the interest of discipline their teacher was obliged to lecture them on tardiness and next morning they were late as usual. She waited for them at the door, trying to look stern, but Clea upset all her dignity and cut her lecture short by observing: "Well, we can't help it if you ring the bell too soon."

Oil Well Flow Increased.

An electrical method of carrying warmth to the bottom of oil wells has been found in many cases greatly to increase the flow of oil, according to Popular Mechanics magazine. The heating process decreases the viscosity of the oil, usually occasioned by the admission of air to the well and the cooling of the rock bed. Minute crevices and capillary channels which afford easy passage to warm thin oil become quite impassable if the oil gums.

Livingstone Memorial.

One of the most curious memorials of Livingstone is the "Name Tree," near Victoria falls, on the Zambezi. On the trunk Livingstone cut his initials and the date 1855 on the day of his first visit to the falls. In his book, giving an account of this, Livingstone says: "This was the only instance in which I indulged in this piece of vanity."

Auto Service in Porto Rico.

Porto Rico is about 100 miles long by 40 miles wide, and autobus lines furnish satisfactory service in covering the parts of the country where railways are not available. For the benefit of tourists and others a daily automobile service connects San Juan, on the north, with Ponce, on the south of the island, a run of five hours.

Painful Insinuation.

Little six-year-old, to young aunt showing him a family portrait: "What a funny way that grandpa is dressed, auntie!" Auntie: "That is the way gentlemen dressed more than a hundred years ago." Six-year-old: "And when gentlemen dressed that way what did you wear?"

Forbearance of the Seal.

It is a curious fact that the fur seal was once a land animal. The baby seals are actually afraid of water; they would drown if thrown into it, and have to learn to swim by repeated efforts. When once they have been taught to swim, however, they soon forget to walk.

First Private English Phone.

The first telephone ever placed in a private English residence is still to be seen at Marlborough house. It was made in 1878 on board the warship Thunderer and was subsequently set up between the schoolroom and the boudoir of the princess of Wales.

Laying a Carpet.

In laying a carpet in a room where there is a fireplace, the section covering the fireplace or hearth should be cut down its center by the shears, and then the carpet should be cut toward the sides, so as to form two flaps, which should be turned under.

Haden't Fooled Helen.

Mother could not take Helen with her when she went downtown and was trying to slip away without her knowing it, so father called Helen to come to him, when she said, "I had to watch mummy, 'cause she's tryin' to run'd away."

Life Much as We Make It.

No person is ever condemned to a small life. Many are assigned to small circumstances, but our lives may be as large as we want them to be. For the only limits of life are aspiration, sympathy and interest.—Selected.

Prison His Safety.

When the West Indian city of St. Pierre was destroyed by the eruption of Mont Pelee some years ago all its inhabitants except one lost their lives. The sole survivor was a prisoner in an underground dungeon.

Reason for Optimism.

"Some men are optimists," said Uncle Eben, "foh de reason dat it's most times easier to sell a man sumpin' by tellin' him a funny story dan it is by tellin' him de truth."

Perplexing.

One of the mysteries of this life is why they call it a tanning when every kid knows that the area affected by the performance doesn't get tan at all.

Beware First False Step.

Honor is like an island, rugged and without a landing place; we can never more re-enter when we are once outside of it.—Silver Threads.

Spasmodic Sermon.

Next to the woman who will slap a baby, the most disgusting creature is the one who will talk baby talk to a dog.—Indianapolis Star.

Daily Thought.

Worth makes the man, and want of it the fellow.—Pope.

NEEDED IN BUSINESS WORLD

Urgent Reasons for Transplanting Returned Soldiers From Army to Civil Life Without Delay.

Your cosmopolitan doughboy who has shaken hands with the king of England, danced with the princess of Rumania, learned the slang of a dozen nations and cocked a knowing eye at all the choicest sights of the Continent, may sound extremely sophisticated by cable, but wait until he strikes the United States and see what furrin travel has done for him! It has made him love, not Europe less, but home more, and he hardly tries to conceal his grand passion under a pucker face, either. For he has been homesick and weary for months, and the Goddess of Liberty looks like an angel, and New York harbor like heaven, to his fond eyes.

As a national asset, then, the soldier is perhaps our best citizen, and because the A. E. F. as a whole is rampantly enthusiastic about its homeland and her interests, America may look to her soldiers for real inspiration in citizenship. These are the men to put into our business life as rapidly as they can be transplanted from army to civil jobs.

To make the transposition more simple and effective, the war department through Col. Arthur Woods, assistant to the secretary of war, has set up the wheels of a giant machine, which is working night and day to co-operate with all employment agencies for the sake of the returned soldier who has no job. But more than that, this great employment system operates for the good of America. Colonel Woods and his thousands of assisting committees believe in the doughboy and in his power of real achievement in the future national life of the United States.

Fine Memorial to Edith Cavell.

In a quarry, midway between Bodwin and Camelford, on the moors of North Cornwall, England, a memorial is being fashioned out of granite in memory of Nurse Cavell. One of the huge pieces is nearing completion under the guidance of Sir George Frampton, who is giving his services free. This figure represents a woman with arms half upraised, holding a little child on her lap, while underneath, on the base of the monument, is carved a cross. The group is symbolical of the stronger nations protecting the smaller and weaker ones, while the cross is the emblem of mercy. The whole group is carved in the form of a cross, giving special significance to the order to which Nurse Cavell belonged. Another huge block of granite near by has a big lion carved on it, with head erect and mane bristling. Trampled beneath its feet is a serpent, writhing, but defeated. The total weight of the memorial, when finished, will be about 170 tons, with a height of about 40 feet. The group probably will be erected near the British National gallery.

Tasting With the Nose.

The sensation of taste, while of common and constant experience, is highly complicated in its nature. What is commonly called taste is not a simple sensation at all, but rather a complex. In addition to the actual functioning of the apparatus properly pertaining to the sense of taste, the tongue receives impressions of various other sorts, all of which go to make up this complex. As finally recorded in the consciousness, the taste of any substance has to do with its heat or coolness, perhaps with a mild amount of pain, certainly with stringency or acidity—which are in themselves further complexes of thermic and tactile sensations—and above all with smell. The reader will probably agree that ice cream and coffee are entirely different from their true selves when served at inappropriate temperatures; and it is a matter of record that a person of the keenest taste may make the most ludicrous errors if asked, blindfolded and with his nose stopped to identify substances placed in his mouth.

Famed Rest of Noted Men.

The Diamond bar, famous for nearly 50 years as a part of the old Auzeurs house, of San Jose, Cal., is being fitted up for a grocery store. The Auzeurs house, on West Santa Clara street, housed five presidents of the United States and was for a time the abode of a king. It was built in 1863, according to John E. Auzeurs of San Jose, and the barroom was the meeting place for many of the men whose names have been written into the history of California.

President Grant was entertained at a banquet in the Auzeurs house in 1879. The following spring King Kalakaua of Hawaii was a guest, and in September of the same year President Hayes delivered an address from the balcony. President Harrison was a guest in 1891 and both McKinley and Roosevelt visited the famous old hotel on their tours of the United States.

Her Part.

The physician had diagnosed the young woman's case and was compounding for her a bottle of medicine. He put two or three drugs into the bottle and then took up a jar of pepsin. The jar was almost empty and there was not enough pepsin to finish filling the patient's bottle. The physician looked around for another jar. He didn't find one, however. For a minute he was frankly perplexed, and then came sudden relief. He turned to the faucet and finished filling the bottle with water.

"Oh," the young woman's voice was very cool, "you needn't have done that. I can put in the water myself."

Japanese Gaia Day.

Of all floral festivities, Japan's Feast of the Cherry Blossom is the most generally observed. Practically every town and village throughout the land has its own particular cherry tree for honoring at this great occasion, but the most famous of them all is that at Kioto. Here early in April is to be seen such a sight as can be witnessed nowhere else in all the world. There are seldom fewer than 1,000,000 persons present, who gather from all parts of the empire. Everywhere is feasting, dancing and merry-making. "Flaneur," in Indianapolis Star.

Centipede a Fly Killer.

The centipede is found pretty much all over the world. The species common in the United States Scutigera forceps, was reported over twenty years ago as devoting the nights to killing house flies. Later an observer detected one in the act of capturing a butterfly much larger than itself. The insect remains concealed during the day under doorsteps or window frames, or in any crevice sufficiently large to hide its numerous appendages.

Honor Is John Wesley's.

The term "Methodist" was first applied to Charles Wesley, and not to John Wesley, the real founder of Methodism. And it was applied as a term of ridicule, or as an epithet. Charles Wesley was a student at Oxford, where, as he says, he began "to observe the method of study prescribed by the university." He must have been a stickler for "method," for he was always using the word. "This gained me the nickname of Methodist," he says in one of his letters.

First Safety Bicycles.

The first of the "safety" bicycles was put on the market in 1880. In this the high front wheel was reduced and the rear wheel was about two-thirds the height of the front one. The machines with wheels of the same size appeared in 1885. Bicycling began to be popular about 1891, and the "craze" reached its height about 1895, when wheels had become low enough in price to be within the means of the multitude.

Wise Relaxation.

The wise know that a judicious amount of wasting is, in the end, not wasting at all; for those who have learned to relax and to forget at the right moment, to lay aside care and thought and time completely, when they do labor do it with a fresh and mighty power that the weary slaves of time service never know. To lose time profitably is an exquisite art.

Water and the Human Body.

The specific gravity of water and the human body is virtually the same. A body in the water is supported by equal pressure at all points. It is more likely to be at ease than under other circumstances. It is, therefore, more likely that it may move without pain. So cripples are often given their exercise in the water.

No Race Suicide There.

Jean, who had always lived in the city, was going to the country for the summer. As she sat gazing out of the car window a flock of blackbirds, frightened by the train, rose from the ground and flew away. "O, aunty," exclaimed Jean excitedly, "look what a large family those birds have."

New York's First Railroad.

The first railroad in New York state and one of the first passenger railroads in the United States was constructed of wooden rails from Albany to Schenectady, a distance of 17 miles, in 1831. Ten years later the Erie railroad was opened from Piermont to Goshen.

Most Valuable Plant.

No plant renders man greater service than does the wheat, because it supplies to the greater part—and the better part, too—of the western world its staff of life. From wheat the leading nations of the earth obtain their bread.

Some Grownups Have Same Idea.

Miriam had been over to a neighbor's to see the new baby, and on her return I asked her what she thought of it. She replied: "Oh, I don't like 'em so fresh; I like 'em better afterward."

Life's Little Peeves.

Life is just one thing after another, but chiefly it is getting up to do something you have forgotten after being comfortably settled in your chair for work or reading.

For Social Success.

Whenever you see a man who is successful in society, try to discover what makes him pleasing and, if possible, adopt his system.—Beaconsfield.

The Meanest Man.

The meanest man in the world put fishhooks in his change pocket when he took off his trousers at night.

Q. E. D.

It wouldn't be difficult to convince the average man that greenbacks are printed on flypaper.

Daily Thought.

He hears but half who hears one party only.—Aeschylus.

SELECTING A STANDARD.

Doubts Which Hest the Young Man in the Business World.

A great many young men who go out into the world of business from school or college or from the influences of a refined home are often puzzled to hear experienced men say that ideals are all right in their way and in theory, but that in practical life, in the rough-and-ready game of business, or in the professions, the sooner young men get rid of much of their "fine-spun nonsense" the quicker they will succeed, says the Philadelphia Ledger. What is a young man to say to that sort of talk? If he be weak and disposed to be "highly practical," and of an unformed character, and with only a veneer of civilization spread thinly upon him, he will hearken to the callous man of the world and do as he does, becoming hopelessly vulgarized. If he have the framework of character, he will simply say that if that be the way of the practical world, the world is wrong, and that there is a better and higher view and pathway for him. How far would the world advance if its ideals were based on the opinions of the most mercenary and common of the people? It would retrograde. How much progress onward and upward would a young man make if he were to key his existence and conduct to the ordinary pitch fixed by the low average of those with whom he comes in daily contact. He would be ashamed to own to himself that he had fixed such a standard for himself. The right standard to take is to choose the very best, and to try to the utmost to live up to that standard.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Store Clothes in Mexico.

This city has for some years past been a cosmopolitan one and it is becoming more so every day, says the Mexican Herald. Even the common people and the poorer classes are learning to behave with the indifference to what is strange and novel in costume and manners, characteristic of the residents of a great metropolis. Not so long ago the sight of the outlandish in dress on the streets used to excite wondering attention. A Chinaman or an Arab in his national garb was followed down the chief thoroughfares and was the center of a somewhat raucous curiosity, though the rudeness of the crowd never went to the length of pulling the Celestial's queue, an indignity which has been inflicted on Chinamen by the hoodlums of New York. But at present people in strange dress may appear in public and receive but a languid and passing attention. Perhaps here and there in the less central thoroughfares a small group of gamins may follow the oriental in flowing robes for the a short distance, but this curiosity is as a rule passive or quiescent and certainly never goes to offensive lengths.

Marriage, Health and Longevity. Marriage is an institution highly conducive to the health of both husband and wife.

Statistics prove that among married men over 20 years of age and women over 40 the mortality rate is far less than among those who remain single. Among the widowed and divorced the mortality is exceptionally great. Suicides among the unmarried are much more numerous than among the married.

The matrimonial state promotes temperance in every form. Furthermore, the probable duration of life of a married man of 30 exceeds that of his unmarried brother by five years, and the wife may expect to live one year longer than a single woman of the same age.

Dancing Men in England.

Men who can dance are apt to be viewed with suspicion by their own sex; and at public schools—the nursery of so many of our insular foibles and prejudices—a dancing boy is almost as much "rotted" as a boy who speaks French with a Parisian accent. I have met many a man who can jump seventeen feet, dance a "shuffle" or a cakewalk, run a three mile race, play with twenty pound dumbbells, vault, walk, ride and swim, but who cannot dance a waltz, and doesn't seem to want to. The Englishman regards dancing as effeminate and "fooling"—and foos it accordingly; and the girls he meets at dances have to dance to his humor.

Mustache Compulsory.

Venders of hair lotions and other mustache products in the Punjab should be coming in for a busy time. The lieutenant general of the northern command says that he has "noticed that, contrary to regulations, many officers are in the habit of shaving the upper lip." He has requested division and brigade commanders to "take measures to have it practice stopped."—Lahore (India) Gazette.

Wettest Place in the World.

The wettest place in the world is Cherrapunji, in Assam. Its average rainfall for the last 10 years has been nearly 37 feet. Next to this come the environs of Bombay, with some 21 feet annually, though the single station of Dehuduscha, in Kamerun, has had for several years an average of 34 feet, chiefly in summer.

Here's Candor.

"I like to be complimented once in a while and I enjoy being flattered," says the editor of the Howard Court, "but there's one old girl around here making me mighty tired by claiming me as one of her old beaux."—Atlanta Constitution.

SELF-CONTROL COMES FIRST

Man Must Be Able to Rule Himself Before He Can Be Allowed to Rule Others.

The other day a man who makes his living by fighting was struck by an undersized man, and instead of returning the blow he walked away from his diminutive assailant.

This man exhibited much more self-control than the majority of people. Men who class themselves as being on a higher plane than this fighting man would have mixed immediately with the hot-headed individual.

What would you have done? The chances are that you would have rushed at the fellow with all your might; you would have permitted your savage instincts to rule you.

This proves that you have not as much power as you should have over your impulses.

You may boss other people, but you are not boss of yourself.

Maybe you wonder why others are forging ahead of you as leaders of men.

It is because they have a check rein on themselves. They have schooled themselves that they may be able to guide others. Self-control is the attribute of a leader.—Chicago American.

GERMS INJURIOUS TO HEALTH

Decayed Teeth One of the Most Potential Causes of Disease in the Human Family.

A hole in a tooth is due to decay. The animal matter of which the tooth is composed is decaying. In that mass of decaying matter the germs of all kinds of disease find a hotbed of fertile soil in which to thrive and multiply and grow strong.

Swarms of them go down into the stomach with every swallow, some of them being destroyed by the action of the stomach juices, but some passing into the blood and being distributed to organs of the body, where they lodge and cause tuberculosis, pneumonia, sore throat, appendicitis and many other diseases.

In fact, it is difficult to pick out a single disease to which we are subject that may not enter the body by way of a decayed tooth. Decayed and broken-down teeth prevent proper mastication of the food, and this in turn causes malnutrition or poor nourishment of the body, which means physical degeneracy, and physical degeneracy means mental and moral degeneracy.

Breaking It Gently.

Speaking of breaking the news gently, the story is told of a well shooter who operated in the oil fields in southwest Kansas ten or twelve years ago. While he was going from one well to another with a load of nitroglycerin the wagon fell over the side of a bridge and landed on the rocks fifteen feet below. The well shooter, his wagon and his team were immediately distributed over the surrounding country.

A friend, who happened to see the accident, felt that he ought to notify the unfortunate well shooter's wife, but he wanted to break the news as gently as possible. He called her up over the telephone and said:

"My opinion is, Mrs. Loop, that your husband won't get back home in time for supper, and I reckon you might as well not wait for him."

"Which way did he go?" asked Mrs. Loop.

"Well, ma'am," said the tool sharpener, who was breaking the news, "he was goin' purty nigh straight up when I last saw him, though
